Service of Thanksgiving 2022

The members of the London and South East Committee of Anatomists and Kim and Sarah from The London Anatomy Office invite you to join us at this year's Service of Thanksgiving. The service is held to express our gratitude to the individuals whose bodies were donated for anatomical examination during 2021. This year's service will be conducted on:

Friday 20 May 2022, 11:00am – 12:00pm
St George's Cathedral, Lambeth Road, London SE1 6HR

We hope that you will join us on this occasion, and bring with you relatives and friends of the donor who would like to attend. You do not need to confirm numbers attending. Children are very welcome to attend the service, however, please be respectful of others and if they become restless, kindly step out of the Cathedral.

You are welcome to bring a freestanding photograph of the person you are remember, to be displayed during the service. Please remember to take it home with you when you leave.

You are advised to arrive at the Cathedral at least 30 minutes before the beginning of the service to ensure enough time to place your photograph, use the facilities and be seated by 11:00 a.m.

Please note that this is not the cremation service, of which you will be notified independently at the appropriate time.

St George's Cathedral is a short walk from Lambeth North Underground Station (Bakerloo Line), and London Waterloo, Southwark and Elephant & Castle stations are also nearby and within 10-15 minutes' walk.
